PILOTI Collection

PILOTI simple bench

The PILOTI bench is characterized by visible assemblies inspired by traditional joints used in cabinetmaking. Rather than hiding them, these are highlighted to make them a distinctive part of the product. Made entirely of solid birch, the versatile format of the bench allows it to be used both for its primary seating function and as a side table.

PILOTI sectional couch

Lightweight and contemporary from the front, its uniqueness is revealed at the rear. Rather than having little hidden legs, these are massive and create a decorative rhythm.

The many visible junctions form details that showcase the craftsmanship of the cabinetmaker and reinforce the formal language specific to the collection. The omnipresence of wood also reinforces the sofa's inviting and convivial character.

Composed of different modules with and without backrest as well as a small integrated table, the flexibility of the possible combinations allows to adapt to a variety of environments.
